16th District Police Host a Business Forum on Scams

Common forms of mail fraud include work-at-home offers and phony foreign lotteries, according to a U.S. Postal Service inspector who spoke at a recent crime prevention seminar for businesses at the 16th District Police Station, 5151 N. Milwaukee Ave.

Inspector Mike Carroll said that classified ads which promise to pay money in exchange for mailing letters from one's home are often too good to be true. He said that victims are mailed a package with envelopes, letters and a check or money order which they are instructed to deposit in their bank account as long as they agree to wire a percentage of it to someone else. Carroll said that by the time the victims learn that the check or money order was counterfeit, it is too late to retrieve the cash which was wire transferred. The amount on the check or money order is then deducted from the victim's bank account. Another common scam involves the mailing of letters and phony checks which tell recipients that have won a foreign lottery or sweepstakes, according to Carroll. Victims are told to deposit the check, which covers only a portion on the winnings, and that they need to wire transfer funds for the taxes before the remainder of the winnings will be sent. Fliers from the Illinois Department on Aging were distributed at the meeting encouraging banks to train their employees to recognize situations in which customers are withdrawing or transferring funds for unusual situations. The flier recommends that the teller ask the customer talk to a bank security agent or a supervisor. Also at the meeting, Jerry Dolan, a senior special agent with the National Insurance Crime Bureau warned businesses about con artists who make false claims of injury in order to collect from a store's liability insurance. Dolan said that in order to weed out the phony claims of injury from real ones, store managers should file an accident report with police and ask the injured person to wait until officers arrive. Dolan said that if the injury is a fake, the con artist may leave before police arrive, possibly because he or she is using a false name.

Legislative Corner

By the time you read this we may or may not have experienced a government takeover of our healthcare. At the time of this writing, the Senate came off of a 1:00a.m. vote to end the debate on healthcare. Lowering cost and increasing quality of care should have been the goal, not a massive expansion of federal government and increasing taxes. Numerous polls show a majority of Americans agree.

Let's review 2009. We've had the Cap & Trade Bill that was rammed through Congress but stalled due to the cost & negative impact on jobs. . . turns out that man-made global warming is a hoax based on the leaked emails that disclosed the scam. The Card Check Bill that takes away the right to a secret ballot. Hundreds of billions in TARP funds that were paid out to subside the surge of foreclosures, but the foreclosures continue. The bailouts for the banks, Wall Street, GM that needed to be rushed in order to "cap unemployment at 9%", we're now well over 10% with no relief in sight. The federal budget passed giving most agencies a 10% increase rather than cuts. On the state level, we have the most dangerous terrorists in the world moving to Illinois, in the name of job creation & for federal tax dollars. Rather than try to balance the budget, the state added more programs & borrowed more money. Cook County got the votes they needed to rescind the 1% tax increase but they only voted to cut the increase in half. Turns out the city left too much money on the table in the parking meter deal. Chicago won't let Walmart build in the city even though it would provide jobs and development.

The question that begs to be asked is this, how did it ever get like this? Government is supposed work for the people but that has completely been turned around. Too many people have been sitting on their hands and they feel helpless in trying to make changes. Folks, it's time to get up and do something. America is going bankrupt and it's time to say enough is enough. Contact your elected officials let them know that you prefer capitalism over socialism. Remind them that they work for you and that you're considering firing them. It's not too late but it's getting close.
